Marquez: carpetbaggers not welcome

By Eric Pierce, City Editor

f Luis Marquez had the funding to purchase a commercial on TV airwaves, his slogan might go something like this: "A vote for Luis Marquez is a vote for local representation."

It's catchy and, as Marquez will point out, true.

Marquez, mayor pro tem for the city of Downey, is expending much of his time, energy and money on his campaign for state Assembly. He hopes to replace Hector De La Torre in the 50th District, a sprawling district that includes much of Southeast Los Angeles County, including southern portions of Downey.

Election Day is Tuesday.

Logic dictates that his main opponent is the deep-pocketed Ricardo Lara, an aspiring politician who counts among his supporters Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa.

What Villaraigosa has to do with issues concerning Southeastern Los Angeles County is anybody's guess.

"We're up against a candidate who wants to join the political club," Marquez said in an interview at his South Gate campaign office. "This is the worst thing that can happen to this district. We're independent cities, we have our own issues. We need local representation."

Marquez has taken a month off from work to focus on his campaign. He spends much of his time speaking to the voters he meets while walking the neighborhoods of Downey, South Gate, Bellflower, Bell Gardens, Lynwood, Cudahy, Commerce and Bell.

"We've left no stone unturned," Marquez said of his campaign supporters, which numbers more than 100. "Support has been awesome not just from Downey, but from local cities. It's been a total grassroots effort and we're feeling very confident."

A win for Marquez Tuesday won't be easy. Lara has easily raised more than half a million dollars, and has used the money to send more than a dozen pieces of campaign literature to voters. A lawsuit earlier this year prompted Lara, a legislative aide, to change his job title on the ballot from "consumer affairs commissioner" to "communications director."

Another candidate, Carmen Avalos, is primarily funded by a Sacramento-based lobbying firm, Space shuttle Atlantis' drag chute is deployed as the spacecraft rolls to a stop on Runway 33 at the Shuttle Landing Facility at NASA's Kennedy Space Center in Florida on the morning of May 26. It was the last planned flight for Atlantis.

Could the space shuttle Atlantis dock in Downey?

■ High costs and difficult stipulations decrease likelihood that Downey will house the space shuttle Atlantis.

BY HENRY VENERACION, STAFF WRITER

DOWNEY – Hopes that Downey may yet acquire the quarter-scale space shuttle orbiter model that has been on loan display in the Calgary International Airport have not died.

Scott Pomrehn, assistant deputy city manager, says that since the whole space shuttle assembly (orbiter, external tank, and solid rocket boosters) was designed and built here in 1974 for ground vibration testing for an extended period of time, it stands to reason that Downey be given the honor of displaying the model.

No less than Smithsonian officials have been known to indicate that Downey is the possible eventual home to the complete shuttle assembly, especially now that it has a museum-like facility. An act of Congress even designated the Columbia Memorial Space Center as a national memorial to the space shuttle Columbia and the crew of STS-107 who was lost on re-entry in 2003. Because of this alone, the unique role of Downey in the evolution of space flight and science is set in stone

The other components of the space shuttle model were shipped to NASA's Johnson Space Center and are known to be in storage. The original space shuttle assembly was a mockup built by Rockwell International here in Downey. Disassembled later, it was trucked first to Palmdale, where it was refurbished, then transported back here. It sits in storage, ready to be moved, restored, and put on display, most probably at the Downey Studios site where the Tesla manufacturing plant would have been.

Now, with NASA's shuttle program to the International Space Station winding down, to give way to a new program favored by president Obama calling for astronauts to focus on asteroids and Mars in the next few decades, a storied chapter in the history of space flight is about to end. Space shuttles Discovery and Endeavour represent the last two shuttle missions to the International Space Station, scheduled respectively to launch in September or October and before year-end or early next year. (Atlantis just barely two weeks ago ended its run). Thus, after 30 years and more than 130 flights, NASA's space shuttle program is getting phased out for good.

Rumor has it that these soon-tobe-space-shuttle-relics will be given away. This sounds so ridiculously simple, until the conditions for their acquisition were brought to light: the acquiring facilities must each possess $30 million for transportation and upkeep costs for each shuttle, the shuttle must be displayed indoors (necessitating a huge hangar), it must be next to a runway "big enough to land a 747/shuttle combo," and last but not least, one shuttle should go to the Midwest and one to the West Coast.

Obviously, these conditions rule Downey out. Be that as it may, Downey can get satisfaction in being a significant part of the vast network of landmarks throughout the country that celebrate the past and promise of space flight.

"You can expect the city council to take steps to at least obtain parts of the space shuttles, a robotic arm perhaps or doors or the cockpit," said Pomrehn, "or any significant component, to complement what we already have. This is not too bad a goal for the city, is it?"

The local community paid tribute to fallen U.S. military personnel at a Memorial Day ceremony held at Downey Cemetery. "The veterans stood as their war was listed and remained standing while the audience applauded," said Pam Lane, a photographer and creater of the blog Downey Daily Photos. "They were men - I didn't see any women - who had served in wars ranging from World War II up through the current fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan. It was humbling to stand among them." A 21-gun salute and the playing of Taps concluded the service. To view more photos of the ceremony, visit www.DowneyDailyPhotos.com.

This weekend, everyone is Greek

■ The Greek Festival, now an annual tradition, is set for this weekend.

CONTRIBUTED BY ST. GEORGE GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH

DOWNEY – "There are two kinds of people: Greeks and those who want to be Greeks," so said Gus Portokalos in the hit movie "My Big Fat Greek Wedding."

Your chance to be Greek – if even for a day – is almost here.

Eagerly anticipated each year is the annual Greek Festival held at Saint George Greek Orthodox Church, 10830 Downey Ave. The festival takes place this year this weekend, June 5-6.

More than 5,000 people visited the festival last year and this year will prove no exception. As you approach the festival you can smell the lambs roasting on the spits. Succulent roasting lambs have become the signature hallmark which makes Downey unique among the Southland Greek festivals.

This year the festival expands to roasting chickens in addition to the more than 130 lambs. Also available will be the gyro and souvlakia and the return of Greek fries.

"The Downey Greek Festival is known for its hospitality and great food. I can't think of a better way to have our friends in the greater Downey area celebrate the richness of our heritage," said Father John Constantine, the pastor of the parish. "When you share food with Greeks, you are no longer strangers!"

For the past couple of months the kitchen has been full of noise and laughter as the ladies of the parish have made pans of pastitsio, moussaka, tyropites, spanakopites, dolmades and various sweets.

The music will be performed by the band Synthesis and will have a beat so you can dance. At 6:30 p.m. on both days, our award-winning dance groups will show-case dances from various regions of Greece and Asia Minor. The Downey dance groups compete at the Greek Orthodox Folk Dance Festival each year and consistently bring honor to themselves and to the parish which they represent.

The church will open for tours throughout the day and offers an opportunity to learn about the Greek Orthodox Church or just to contemplate the exquisite 12th century Macedonian school-style iconography. This past April a significant milestone was achieved in the life of the parish when the church was consecrated by His Eminence Metropolitan Bishop Gerasimos of San Francisco.

Other activities at the festival will include the agora (merchant's stalls), presentations of Greek culture and history, and, of course, a kids zone to keep younger festival guests happy.

Admission is free before 4 p.m. on Saturday and $2 after 4 p.m. on Saturday and all day Sunday. Senior citizens and children under 12 are free.

House values continue to slide

■ Average reduction for single-family home is $162,000, assessment review finds.

LOS ANGELES – Los Angeles County Assessor Robert Quon on Wednesday announced completion of a decline in value review of homes in Los Angeles County, and of the 560,000 homes reviewed this year, there are now approximately 290,000 single-family residences and 115,000 condos with reduced values as a result of the declining real estate market.

The lower assessments will be reflected on the tax bills issued in October.

All single-family residences and condominiums purchased between July 1, 2003 and June 30, 2009 were included in the review. In some hard-hit areas, notably the Antelope Valley, homes purchased as far back as the 1980s were reviewed.

Similar reviews were done in 2009 and 2008 resulting in lower property taxes for more than 330,000 homeowners.

Quon noted that nearly all of those homeowners whose property values were reduced in previous years will either see the lower assessment continue for 2010 or, in some cases, reduced even further.

The average value reduction for single-family residences is about $162,000, he added, amounting to an average property tax savings of approximately $1,800. The average reduction for condos is $133,000, amounting to an average property tax savings of approximately

"We have begun mailing the results to property owners included in the review and all the notices should be received by June 30," said Quon. "Owners who disagree with the results of the review or whose property was not reviewed, including property other than single-family residences or condos, may file the simple, one-page Decline-in-Value application found on our website."

This year the application can be filed online at www.assessor.lacounty.gov. The application form can also be downloaded or requested by calling 888-807 2111

The deadline for filing a Decline-in-Value application is Nov. 30.

"Our free review also eliminates the need for most taxpayers to go through the application process, and hopefully will curtail the scam mailers from some private companies offering to submit a review application for a substantial fee," Quon said.

Elon Musk says he's broke

PALO ALTO - Tesla Motors CEO Elon Musk is broke and has been living off personal loans since October 2009, this according to court filings reviewed by online magazine Venture Beat this week.

"About four months ago, I ran out of cash," Musk wrote in a court filing dated Feb. 23 and reviewed by the website.

According to court documents filed as part of Musk's divorce from sci-fi novelist Justine Musk, Elon Musk said he has been living off personal loans from friends while spending $200,000 a month, Venture Beat reported.

"Tesla, likewise, is dealing with its cash flow problems by borrowing money from a friendly source — the United States government, which has eagerly backed cleantech startups through a Department of Energy loan program," the report said. "Tesla burned through $37 million in cash in the last three months of 2009, according to amended S-1 documents, filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission in preparation for its IPO. Tesla slowed this burn rate in the first quarter of 2010 to $8.4 million, but only by drawing down part of a $465 million loan from the DOE, while reporting a net loss of $29.5 million."

Meanwhile, Musk's estranged wife, Justine Musk, blogged recently that she wants $10 million from her husband, plus 10% of his stock in Tesla, 5% of SpaceX and a Tesla Roadster.

Venture Beat's full story can be read at www.VentureBeat.com.

Tesla announced three weeks ago they would build an electric vehicle assembly plant in Fremont and not Downey.

Violent felons no longer can own body armor

LOS ANGELES - Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger on Wednesday signed urgency legislation restricting the possession of body armor by violent felons.

The governor signed Senate Bill 408, which prohibits violent felons from possessing body armor such as bullet proof vests, at the urging of the district attorney and California State Sen. Alex Padilla.

"Violent felons who possess body armor represent a serious threat not only to law enforcement officers but to the general public as well," Los Angeles County District Attorney Steve Cooley said. "This new law will help protect the lives of law enforcement officers and citizens by making it unlawful again in California for violent felons to possess body armor."

The law prohibiting violent felons from possessing body armor was challenged in the 2nd District Court of Appeals by Ethan Saleem, a felon convicted of voluntary manslaughter on parole when he was found in possession of a 10pound, military-style vest commonly worn by combat ground troops

Late last year, the state court of appeals overturned the ban, calling it "unconstitutional."

In response to this ruling, Padilla authored SB 408 with Cooley as the bill's principal sponsor. The law additionally makes it possible to charge any person convicted of a violent offense with a felony if they are found in possession of body armor.

Odor problem may be solved

■ AQMD officials think change in procedures at nearby refinery may stem reports of foul odors.

By Mark Sauter, CITY OF DOWNEY

DOWNEY – City staff met with three management representatives from the South Coast Air Quality Management District late last month to follow-up on AQMD actions in response to the suspicious odor problems that have been reported by city employees and community members.

The odors typically have a rotten egg or sulfur smell. The source of the odors has been difficult to positively identify, however, the odors have been generated by workers at a nearby refinery when they clean a required filtering sys-

Each time there is a release of the sulfur material at the refinery, the city receives numerous complaints and calls for service. Due to the location of the refinery, the city has had limited enforcement options.

Over the last few months, the refinery operations staff has designed a new cleaning procedure for their filtering system. Last week they tested the new process. AQMD staff was on-site and observed the work.

The major change involves how the spent filter material is transferred from a large vertical tank into a waste material vessel. Previously, the material was moved manually by crews with shovels into a roll-off type material handling bin. Now the vertical tanks are off-loaded with a system of large diameter hoses and sprayers.

This new procedure keeps most of the waste from coming into contact with the air. Once full, the waste material vessel is encapsulated and removed from the premises. There were no complaints while the new process was being per-

All parties involved in the remedy of the suspicious odor problem will continue to monitor the situation and to search for other best practices.

The Downey Fire Department sends fire crews to investigate suspicious odor incidents immediately after problems are reported to the fire dispatch center. However, community members are also encouraged to call the Gas Company and the AQMD immediately when a suspicious odor is AQMD representatives recommend residents and business owners immediately call 1-800-CUT-SMOG (1-800-288-7664) to report any suspicious odors. They advise an investigator will respond after the receipt of one phone call during business hours. Residents can also file written complaints with the AQMD. The AQMD noted they follow up on public nuisance problems with citations when at least six residents report a problem to the AQMD.

For all community members impacted by the suspicious odors, it is important to remember to follow-up on their experiences. While the first call may be to 911, the next call should be to (800) CUT-SMOG. The AQMD communication center staff specifically wants to hear from residents and to collect the names and addresses of those who are reporting the problem. AQMD investigators will then follow-up and visit each caller.

Marquez said.

Marquez claims he hasn't collected as much money as his opponents, but all of it was locally raised.

"We don't have any special interests backing us," Marquez said. "So it won't be a problem if when - we're elected."

Marquez maintained that his campaign has not affected his duties as a Downey city council member. He has only missed a single council meeting since he was elected one year ago, and that was because he was in Sacramento testifying on behalf of Downey as part of the Tesla Motors deal. When Councilman Mario Guerra stepped down as mayor last year, Marquez became Downey's lead representative in dealings with Tesla.

And while a deal with the electric car maker never materialized, Marquez said the city was aggressive in trying to bring jobs to the local area. He said he will bring that pro-activeness to his region, if

"If we had to do it all over again with Tesla, I wouldn't change a thing," Marquez said. "The No. 1 issue facing this region is lack of jobs. We have one of the highest unemployment rates in the state. We need to be aggressive in creating jobs for the residents here."

Marquez's list of endorsements is too long to list, but his most prominent supporters include the California Teachers Association and De La Torre, the man he's trying to replace.

But ultimately, Marquez said it's his local roots and support of the region he hopes will resonate with voters.

"The main goal here is to make government work for residents of this district," he said. "We need a local candidate working for us in Sacramento, someone who understands the issues we face. I'm that person."

Student wraps up D.C. internship

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Downey High School graduate Vanessa Chavez recently completed an internship in the Washington, D.C. office of Rep. Lucille Roybal-Allard.

Chavez, an upcoming junior at UC Irvine, performed a wide variety of tasks during her 3-month internship, including drafting letters, conducting legislative research, attending legislative briefings and press conferences, as well as other administrative duties.

Chavez, 20, is majoring in International Studies with a minor in Conflict Resolution. She plans to attend graduate school.

"Internships in congressional offices provide a unique opportunity for young people to learn first-hand about public service and how our government operates," Roybal-Allard said in a statement. "I am very proud of Vanessa. She is among the many bright students with leadership potential from our community and state who will hopefully take what they've learned as part of this program and return home more knowledgeable about the process and better prepared to one day serve their communities and make a difference."

"I am grateful that the congresswoman and her staff gave me the opportunity to intern for them," Chavez said. "My experience in Washington, D.C. was eye-opening and very educational about the daily workings of a congressional office."

Students who are interested in internship opportunities in Roybal-Allard's district or Washington, D.C. offices should call the district office at (213) 628-9230.

College christens new auto building

■ 10,640 sq. ft. facility was built, in part, with donations and local bond funds.

NORWALK Cerritos College hosted a dedication ceremony May 21 for its newly-completed Automotive Partners Building.

More than 300 people including college officials, community members, auto manufacturers, dealers, industry partners, dignitaries, faculty, staff and students marked the occasion with an unveiling of commemorative plaques and a ribbon-cutting.

The 10,642 square foot building is a unique facility serving the college's industry partners such as the Southland Motor Car Dealers Association and Northwood University's West Coast program center that offers a bachelor's degree in automotive management and marketing.

The new building also houses college's Advanced Transportation Technology and Energy program.

The new $5.1 million Automotive Partners Building was supported in part by major donors and local bond funds. The SMCDA and Greater Los Angeles New Car Dealers Association each contributed $500,000 and Supervisor Don Knabe contributed $100,000 to the project.

A surprise gift arrived the day before the ceremony when the Conant Auto Retail Group, one of the largest and fastest growing privately-owned auto groups, came forward with a $100,000 donation.

In his remarks, Knabe said "the building is about much needed industry workforce training and the latest and greatest technology."

Assemblyman Warren Furutani also praised the project as "a fantastic example" of partnership among public and private education and industry.

Another highlight of the program was the showcase of vehicles brought by the world's top car manufacturers.

Cars on display included the BMW 535i (U.S. release date is June 19, 2010), Dodge Durango

DOWNEY Rosalie Carpenter, a longtime employee of the Downey City Library who wrote a popular song about the city, died May 26 after a short illness. She was 89.

The daughter of a professional cellist, Carpenter played the piano and wrote several songs, including "Set Me Down in Downey," which she penned in 1961 as part of a city contest. The song is often played at the summer concerts at Furman

She also dabbled in poetry and stand-up comedy, driving to the Comedy Store and other venues. She was a member of Writers' Workshop West and the Downey Seniors Club, which she enjoyed for many years on Tuesday morn-

An animal lover, Carpenter spent decades participating with many animal welfare efforts and organizations. She had been a vegetarian since the early 1970s.

She worked as a librarian at the Downey City Library from 1962-78 and later worked at the L.A. County Office of Education before retiring in 1987.

Carpenter was born July 7, 1920, the only child of Arthur and Winifred (Todd) Weighill, in Brighton, England. She grew up there and became a singer, dancer and actor in various theater stage productions in Britain from 1938-51, under the stage name Rosalie Allen. During World War II, she

She moved to Toronto in 1951 and wrote advertising copy, and on to Highland Park in 1953 and Downey in 1955, where she married William Carpenter Jr. They were married 47 years.

They raised sons Roger and Mark, both Downey High School graduates.

Rosalie is survived by her sons, Roger and Mark, and grandsons David and Daniel.

Harry Zembal was WWII veteran

DOWNEY – Harry Lewis Zembal died May 21 at Downey Regional Medical Center from a bowel obstruction complicated by pneumonia. He was 89.

He was born and raised in Chicago until he became a navigator on B29s during World War II; he survived bailing out over the jungles of Burma and evaded capture by the Japanese.

After the war, he and his wife Barbara Jean lived in Chicago a short time before making Downey their permanent home.

He is survived by seven children, Mary, Dick, Tom, Joan, Carol, Andy and Greg, and their spouses; eight grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Service group marks 70

years

LONG BEACH - Annette "Faye" Alperin was installed as the 70th president of Assistance League of Long Beach on May 24 at the group's annual meeting and luncheon at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Long Beach.

In her speech to 240 members and guests, Alperin reflected on the values of the Assistance League founders whose purpose was giving services to others in need.

Those original service programs have now evolved to include Operation School Bell, which provides new, free school uniforms to children in need; and the Orthodontic Program, which provides affordable orthodontic care to children in the Long Beach area.

This year marks the 70th anniversary of the founding of Assistance League of Long Beach, the largest Assistance League chapter in the Alperin's theme for the year is "Celebrate the Journey" and several celebratory events are planned, including an open house in April 2011.

Alperin said her goals for the year are "strengthening the philanthropic programs to fulfill community needs, broadening the organization's financial support base to support the programs now and into the future, and developing collaborative relationships with community supporters."

Prior to becoming active with the Assistance League, Alperin was a teacher with the Long Beach Unified School District.

Costume design students win contest

NORWALK - Two of Cerritos College's costuming students competed in the Renaissance Pleasure Faire's Elizabethan Costume Competition on May 16 in Irwindale, and many weeks of hard work paid off as both students won prizes.

Alba Bermudez won first place in the Adult Peasant Category and Patricia Ramirez won second place in the Adult Nobility Category.

Bermudez, of Whittier, is a beginning costume student while Ramirez, a Cerritos resident, is an advanced costume student.

Both students spent months building every piece of their costume, from the corset to the hats. They worked in the costume shop until 3:15 a.m. before the competition.

Susan Watanabe, costume design instructor, has been sending Cerritos College costuming students to this competition for nearly 20 years.

"We are proud of these students for their dedication and many hours of hard work," she said. "These are very difficult, time intensive projects. Their drive to complete their projects down to the minute details and still meet the deadline are work qualities that will ensure success in whatever career they choose. These are the type of work ethics we try to instill in all of our students."

Author to speak in Downey tomorrow

DOWNEY – Award-winning author Lisa See will be the featured speaker at a luncheon and book-signing tomorrow at the Rio Hondo Event

Tickets are $25 and include the author talk and a Chinese buffet meal. See is author of the bestselling books, "Snow Flower and the Secret Fan," "Peony in Love" and "On Gold Mountain."

Her latest novel, "Shanghai Girls," tells the story of Pearl and May, two sisters who leave Shanghai to find new lives in 1930s Los Angeles. To settle his gambling debts, their father sells both girls to a wealthy Chinese-American as wives for his sons.

The girls find themselves detained on Angel's Island for months and later must keep a secret that could threaten their future.

"Lisa's book captures the bond between sisters, the rich detail of pre-World War II Shanghai, and the struggles and joys of the immigrant experience," said City Librarian Nancy Messineo. "At this author event you will have a rare opportunity to hear a gifted author speak and learn more about her own Chinese American family."

Copies of "Shanghai Girls" will be available for purchase and signing at the event.

Tickets are available at the Friends Book Store located inside the

Letters to the Editor:

Honoring veterans

Dear Editor:

I attended the Memorial Day tribute at the Downey Cemetery. I consider myself patriotic and have always thought about our soldiers on Memorial Day, but for the first time in years, I truly felt connected to what Memorial Day represents.

To have had the honor of looking into a veteran's eyes and saying "thank you" and to reflect on the many white crosses and American flags, was all very touching. As I thanked one of the veterans, he handed me an old bullet shell. I will keep it as a reminder of all the sacrifices that were made for our freedom.

I looked at a few of the veterans' faces during the playing of "Taps" and could only imagine what they were thinking and feeling. I remember feeling great gratitude and respect for each of them.

For those who have not attended the Memorial Day tribute, I hope you will put it on your calendar for next year. Every seat should be taken and every soldier honored.

Christina Anderson,

Defends memorial

Dear Editor:

We have witnesses that are willing to go to court [and testify] that Steven Bours did comply and video of the so-called weapon sent to us by an ex-police officer. ("Street Memorial," Letters to the Editor, 5/28/10)

And there are no laws at this time on how long a person has the right to mourn, and under the Constitution we have the right to our freedom of speech. If it bothers you that much, don't look.

2010 AT (After Tesla)

Dear Editor:

So Downey got stabbed in the back by Tesla Motors; too bad. Now what the city should do, and should have been doing, is to lobby Wal-Mart to bring one of their "supercenters" to Downey.

It would fit nicely on that land that Tesla turned down, and would be a great source of income for the city from the day they open the doors; and the city wouldn't have to wait until "if" and "when" those very expensive cars started rolling out the doors, if ever.

I don't expect there would be a very long line of customers waiting for them, do you?

— Jim Lucas,

Downey

After reading Janice Allen's letter regarding Tesla, I feel like she and I are on the same page. (Letters to the Editor, 5/28/10)

Had our City Council paid more attention, they would have known this was coming. In the past months, I have read several articles about Tesla nosing around Fremont. This should have been a warning to our heads-in-

I wrote The Downey Patriot when Tesla first came here. I said they had been opened seven years and never showed a profit and I did not want them here. Then Councilman Mario Guerra wrote saying he didn't like my letter's attitude. Shame he didn't at least look into what Tesla was doing.

It bothers me that cities around us are growing while Downey sits stag-

Looking good

Dear Editor:

On Thursday, June 10, the Keep Downey Beautiful committee will hold an awards presentation at City Hall. Seating begins at 6:45 p.m. and the program starts at 7 p.m. Certificates will be presented to each award winner.

These Beautification Award Winners have been selected for the 2010 Spring Beautification Program.

These are the award procedures:

An official application is mailed in January along with water bills to all residents and business properties.

Recruiting for judges from civic organizations in the community begins in February. It is best to have 15 to 20 judges.

Applications arrive from January to the deadline of April 1. They are sorted by category: Home Beautiful, Home Improvement, Multi-Units, Religious Buildings, Lending Institutions, Restaurants, Service Stations, Commercial Buildings, Retail Centers, Industrial Buildings and Institutional Buildings.

The properties are scored on a scale of 1 to 10 with 10 being the best. They are judged on overall general appearance, use of landscaping, creativity, neighborhood impact and water conservation efforts.

A volunteer photographer will take photos of all the winning properties and the photos are used for the PowerPoint presentation the night of the awards ceremony.

We thank Keep Downey Beautiful coordinator Carol Rowland for the many hours she spends arranging and planning this awards program.

Letters from Warren High students

I have lived in Downey all my life, and from what I remember there has always been something to do. Whether it was playing soccer at the park or going to Krikorian to watch a new movie, and even bowl at Del Rio Lanes, Downey was pretty much fun.

But now that I am a little bit older, fun things to do in Downey have become very dull. Although we have a lot of shopping centers, restaurants and the new Downey Landing, Downey is a very quiet city. With neighbors, police officers and seniors worried about noise and destruction of property, the night life ends at around 9:30 p.m. Not to mention our 10 p.m. curfew.

Downey is a fun and safe place when you're young, but once you get older, it's time to leave to a bigger city.

- Kevin De La Hoz,

Downey

Dear Editor:

I am proud to say that living in Downey has its benefits. One of those is the good public transit system that the city provides.

With just a quarter and free transfers, the Downey LINK could take one all over the city. This helps out students and people that need a ride anywhere within the city. Downey even takes into consideration its citizens with special needs by providing a different bus just for their care.

Also, for only a quarter, Downey's Dial-A-Ride serves citizens who are 65 and older and anyone who is disabled.

I like the fact that the bus drivers are friendly people and that the buses are clean. I believe that Downey has done a great job in helping out its citizens by making transportation accessible.

I am glad to say that if for any reason I need a ride, I could just take the DowneyLINK and problem solved! Thank you.

- Mayra Pozos,

Downey

Dear Editor:

I was born at Downey Regional Medical Center and have lived and gone to school in Downey my whole life. While I love Downey, I feel sad when thinking about my city.

I'm embarrassed to bring my boyfriend, who lives out of town, to Downey. Our streets need repair and parts of the city need renovations. It's gotten so bad that I feel a need to get out of Downey and move away. Not once did I consider staying in Downey and commuting to school.

For me, there is nothing in Downey to entice me to stay. No nightlife, housing is expensive and the city is in poor shape. While it breaks my heart to leave my hometown, I feel I have no choice.

— Faviola Hernandez,

Downey

Dear Editor:

The city of Downey is a vivid and calm place to live. One thing that can make the city better, however, is fixing the lack of sidewalks.

It is dangerous for pedestrians to walk because they are at risk of getting hit by oncoming traffic. Without sidewalks, children can't walk or ride their bikes safely.

Walking on the lawns of private property is not pleasant for the owners. Many complain that people are trespassing on their property.

For the good of the community this has to be fixed. Walking through the neighborhood should not be a problem.

Jessica Gutierrez,

Downey

I am writing to express how grateful I am to live in the city of Downey. The question of security has never really crossed my mind much. Growing up from 8 years old to now 18 nothing has happened that I could honestly attribute to lack of security when in reality the Downey Police Department couldn't do their job any better.

Every time I go to a city park, I always notice there are Downey police patrolling the park looking out for children. Even at Warren High School I see the Downey police looking out for everyone, making sure everything is OK and in order.

The community also does very well putting time and effort into its schools. I've gone from Rio Hondo Elementary to Griffiths to now Warren and I constantly see volunteers giving a hand. I am also part of Warren's swim and water polo teams, and when the teams need financial help the parents don't hesitate to help.

It's also great how well the city cooperates with fundraisers. The city of Downey does a great job getting teens involved, with an example being the Miss Downey pageant which requires the contestants to do volunteer work and the Big Buddy Little Buddy program that requires you to tutor a

I wouldn't want to live in any other city. This letter is more of an acknowledgement for the city of Downey and to say you are much appreciated!

– Erick Labra,

Downey

Dear Editor:

The city of Downey is known as one of the best cities in Los Angeles County. It has beautiful homes and great shopping centers we enjoy every day. But even though it's one of the greatest cities, I believe there is room for improvement.

I've driven around some of the Downey neighborhoods and have noticed that some streets are a little bumpy and the cement is damaged. Some pieces of cement are all over the road which can be dangerous when cars pass by. Not too long ago my brother and I were driving along Imperial Highway when all of a sudden we saw a huge pothole. We were not able to avoid it so we drove through. It was a good thing we had our seat belts on because we could have hurt ourselves badly.

Something has to be done about the potholes, which can be very dangerous for drivers. Maybe that's one of the reasons a lot of people get flat tires and then have to pay big money for repairs. That's not good, with this economy, people cannot afford to repair their cars due to the city's negligence.

Sidewalks are another thing to point out. Most of the residential streets have no sidewalks. There are a lot of times when kids want to go for walks or use their bikes but the parents do not feel safe because there are no sidewalks. Kids are in danger without sidewalks. A car can go over the speed limit and run over a kid.

Street lights are also very important in our neighborhoods. It's either they don't work, we don't have enough, or worse, we don't have any at all. It's scary when you walk out of your house and there's no light, it's pitch

So there you have it: some suggestions from me. The people of Downey will appreciate it.

- Denise Marquez,

Downey

Tiny's Troupers sign off

Dear Editor:

Due to the current economic situation, plus the problems created by the age factor, we find it necessary to announce that after June 5, Tiny's Troupers will no longer be performing.

Apparently the entertainment business has felt this economic squeeze as much or more than others, and the unpredicted effects of aging must be considered.

We want to thank all our friends, especially those who have performed with us for the past 10 years, for sacrificing their time and energy. They were certainly helpful for the many standing ovations that we came to appreciate. We hope there is some way in the future we can repay them by being of some assistance to them.

It has been 10 years of fun, frivolity, exercise and work, and we enjoyed every minute of it, but nothing lasts forever. We don't know exactly what we are looking forward to, but we will keep busy.

Thank you all for all the help you have given us, and may God be with you.

Tiny and Slim,

Tiny's Troupers

Saving America

Dear Editor:

I feel there were some important sentences omitted from my Letter to the Editor of May 14 that I think our population should read. First and foremost is the sentence you never hear on any TV or radio media, or see in any newspaper in America: A nation that cannot protect its borders from domestic intrusion cannot ever hope to protect them from foreign terrorism or invasion.

That is the God's truth as I see it. It should be on the front covers of every American History book.

Mexico does not allow illegal immigration into their country. Why then should we allow illegal immigration into the USA? In Mexico, it is a felony - subject to two years imprisonment, a heavy monetary fine and inhumane treatment - plus immediate deportation. We should not be Uncle Sap in solving Mexico's economic, employment, overpopulation, drug trade, corruption and poverty problems. They have resources to do so and importing poverty is a sure way to bankrupt America.

Ninety percent of illegal invaders are Hispanic. What's so hard to identify them? Coyotes aren't hauling blue-eyed blond Europeans across the borders. Racial profiling is just a lame excuse. Politicians, mostly Democrats, are willing to let our America be so taken in a sellout for the votes of these invaders who they want to make citizens real quick, just to keep themselves in office forever. A low breed, willing to sell off your country. They gave a standing ovation to Mexico's president for lambasting Arizona's new law recently.

It's wrong to turn the USA into what Mexico is now. Change Mexico not America.

Not enough to do

Dear Editor:

The problem in Downey is that we do not have enough entertainment or activity options. Laser tag and a teen center would be a good investment for our city.

Cities such as Long Beach have a variety of activities to do in their own town center, such as a movie theater, laser tag with arcade, places to eat, shopping, and places where we can just sit and talk with friends. The city of Bell has a sports center that provides a variety of sports fields. If Downey had sports fields, it would benefit many of the growing children in our already growing city. This may also help with more teenagers getting involved in sports rather than going out and breaking the

Lisa Kim is DHS's best

By Gabriela Coya, INTERN

DOWNEY – As Downey High School's class of 2010 counts down the final days of school, preparations for graduation have commenced including deciding who will give speeches at the momentous event.

One speech — the valedictorian's - has already been decided on, since senior Lisa Kim has officially earned the title.

Just recently Kim was declared the valedictorian of this year's Downey senior class. In her four years at Downey, Kim has not only managed to keep up with her classes and do well, but has also been very involved in several clubs at school such as California State Federation, Junior Statesmen of America and Eco Club.

Outside of school, she is a member of Eastern Presbyterian Church's Youth Group Choir and also led her Youth Ministry's Welcoming Committee.

Some of her outstanding academic achievements include a Viking Award Statue she earned this year for English, and last year, she earned a Viking Award Statue for Biology.

Kim plans on attending UCLA in the fall. She applied under biological medicine, but is still exploring and looks forward to the freedom college will provide her.

"I look forward to taking hold of this freedom and truly testing my abilities and skills in making the choices that will mold my future, my successes and my failures," said Kim. "I'm still open to the various career possibilities that await me at UCLA and am currently considering the field of political science as well in order to pursue a degree in law."

Although she is excited for college, she and her family will always hold Downey High School the school from which her four sisters and one brother have previously graduated - close to their heart.

"From 1997, my family has called Downey High School, our high school," said Kim. "I feel immense gratitude towards the school that has provided an education to my family over a span of a decade."

In going to college to further her education, Kim also realizes that she will have to leave her comfort zone and many memories, but hopes college will be rewarding.

"I am excited to embark upon a new milestone of my life but at the same time. I am warv of the unknown that awaits me outside the protective shell of Downey High School," said Kim. "But I know and am already expecting the difficulties that will undoubtedly transpire in my college career but as in all things, I hope that my experiences in college will open the doors to new adventures and memories."

Chalk artists show off their skills

By Deborah Won, INTERN

DOWNEY – Emphasizing the artistic talents of the students in Downey, the first annual Chalk Festival was held at Warren High School on May 29, as numerous participants worked from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. to complete their chalk artworks.

Hosted by art teachers Nadia Roldan and Svetlana Russell, the great turnout and result of the festival deemed the event a success.

"We were trying to have this event to show and give more art to the community," said Russell. "Also, just to showcase some of the talent of the students here at this school, and give the students a chance to participate in things they haven't been able to participate in before."

Upon entry into the festival, each participant or group was given their own square of sidewalk, along with a case of chalk pastels to utilize as drawing tools. With the entire strip of cement to use as the canvas, these artistic students blew all audiences away with their spectacular talents and brightly colored

"Participating was a great and fun experience, but the talent the students and participants had was astonishing," said junior Katie Zamora, a participant and viewer of the festival. "The masterpiece replicas are what really impressed me. They were so detailed and all, I didn't know that was possible to do with chalk."

"A part of it is just to have fun and celebrate the arts," said Roldan when asked what they wanted their participants to get out of this event.

The Chalk Festival may become a yearly event at Warren High.

"We want the participants walking away from this festival to leave feeling good about themselves, and proud of what they have accomplished."

With open signups and the sole requirement of a $5 fee for entering the festival, many students of various grade levels set up bright and early on the Warren campus for a full day of experimenting with chalk pastels.

"To everyone," said Roldan when asked who was invited to participate in the festival. "We sent out flyers to all the elementary, middle, and high schools, and we opened this up to all ages."

Not only were artistic students invited to the event, various clubs were also invited to sell refreshments and foods to complete the festival, in addition to student talent for live musical entertainment. "We think it's really successful this year, and we hope that next year it will grow and the years after it will keep growing," said Russell. "We had a good turnout, and we had more signups than we could have hoped for."

In addition, many participants had sponsors for their participation in the chalk festival. Sponsors paid $15 a mural, and all funds collected from the festival will be used for the art scholarships given out to seniors at the end of the school

At the end of the day, the event was wrapped up with the revealing of the winners of the chalk festival contest. Categories included "Best Rendition of a Masterpiece," "Best Youth," "Most Colorful," "Most Original," and the "People's Choice Award."

ASB scurries for graduation funding

By Joanna Quintana, INTERN

DOWNEY – Fundraising blindly during a recession had almost been to no avail for the 2010 senior class as certain, but essential, aspects of every senior's graduation were nearly risked for Downey High School's own graduation.

Raising revenue for the senior class of 2010 has been no simple feat, it would appear that both the senior class president and vice president have discovered this passing year. Their lack of experience combined with some hard times ultimately made it difficult for Briana Bobadilla and Alexandria Galindo to raise the required amount necessary for graduation.

"We were kind of thrown for a loop this year because we didn't really start off with a lot of money so we had to do more work," said senior class vice president Galindo. "We've already made a lot of money and me and the other officer were brand new to ASB. We've never been on ASB and we didn't really know how to do anything, so it was kind of hard for us to get the hang of things and now we're kind of doing better. We had a lot of ideas but a lot of it, we had to spend money to get money and we didn't have the money to spend."

With graduation around the corner, ASB has taken to last, desperate efforts so as to make up the remaining amount needed for the estimated total of $3,500. Daily stands selling refreshing smoothies from Juice It Up! in the quad during lunch have easily raised around $300 per week, covering the costs of the graduation programs. The last remaining risk being run are the fireworks that have been present and expected at every other graduation, known to have ended the memorable night with a finale of bright colors and loud booms. To cover the cost for the fireworks, ASB has joined with football, cutting the revenues made in half, to create a new fundraiser: the powderpuff 2010 game.

"An amount is still needed to be made, but I think we can do it," said Galindo. "It's not too far because of powderpuff. A lot of people are interested and we've only collected the entrance fees from each girl, which pays for them so as of right now, no money has been made on it but we're handing out tickets and each ticket is five dollars. With all the tickets out, we'll have enough."

A meeting with Downey vice principal Ixchel Sanchez was what pushed ASB into focus as they are now turning all efforts toward raising the amount necessary for graduation. Though the programs naming each student are guaranteed for every guest, the presence of fireworks is yet to be determined by the success of the powderpuff 2010 game, leaving the final preparations for graduation very last minute,

Family Fun Night brings people together

BY ALYSSA WYNNE, INTERN

DOWNEY – Exotic petting zoos, pony rides, giant moon bounces, live music and mountains of food and drink defined Downey High School's 12th annual Family Fun Night, held May 20.

After much planning, Downey's Associated Student Body and activities director Gordon Weisenburger constructed the traditional event and united the community once more.

"ASB picks the vendors and activities that we feel will be most beneficial in profit for our clubs and organizations," said senior Liz Calvillo, ASB president. "Profits are split with many clubs and sports. Most organizations on campus run a booth or two and that's where they get their profit."

The many clubs, sports and programs on campus provided food and entertainment for the attendees. Junior State of America sold churros as their food (and sold out within a couple hours); Downey Football Booster sold Downey football paraphernalia; Downey's award winning dance team and the Regional Occupations Program Dance Ensemble cooperated with off-campus dancers to perform for spectators.

A mariachi band played while people danced along to the music. For the younger age group of the community, there were moon bounces with animalistic designs or shapes and inflatable slides, a trackless train to take passengers on a tour around the campus, and an exotic petting zoo with goats, llamas, and ponies, and hay to feed the animals with. Children also had the opportunity to participate in a pony ride.

This year anticipated a change in location due to the massive construction Downey's cafeteria undergoes right now, but that did little to spoil the fun. Downey resembled a mini-carnival, but provided the safety and unity that a community function creates. With almost every student attending in some way, whether by participation or just to hang out with friends, and many of Downey's families coming together as well, the community grows stronger.

"Whenever we have an event where the community can come together, it's always a good thing," said Calvillo. "One of the greatest aspects of Downey High is its diversity and you definitely get a taste of it at Family Fun Night. It's just a fun night and way to get out and enjoy a night out with family and friends."

6 irresistible attributes of a wedding photographer

■ Successful wedding photographers stand out from the crowd.

BY SCOTT BARADELL

rt's not easy to be a wedding photographer. While the fees Llook tempting — with rates usually ranging from around $1,500 to about $4,500 or more, depending on the number of hours on site, the number of prints ordered and the type of album delivered — the workload is heavy, the shooting difficult and, most important of all, the competition intense. To stand out from the crowd and build a successful business out of wedding photography, a photographer needs six irresistible attributes:

1. Personality

Couples will look at dozens of wedding portfolios before they come to a decision. They'll spot the really poor photographers — the ones whose albums contain halfshaded brides and cheesy false coloring — but unless they're seasoned photographers themselves, they'll struggle to tell one talented photographer from another.

That's why personality is so important for a wedding photographer. Clients aren't just buying a set of pictures; they're also inviting important day in their lives, giving them authority to interact with their guests, and hoping that they'll understand the joy of the occasion. A solid portfolio is vital, but it's often the photographer's personality that closes the deal.

2. Praise

Wedding photographers usually find that clients reach them in two ways: through an optimized website that turns up well in search engines; and through referrals. Happy clients who pass on praise to friends and relatives are an invaluable part of most successful wedding photography businesses. They allow the photographer to project trust, to spread his or her name and to start any consultation in the knowledge that the couple already thinks well of them.

For past clients, referrals are a great way to help a friend cross one item off a wedding preparation todo list; for wedding photographers, they're a steady stream of new

3. Professionalism

Low-cost camera equipment has created a whole new class of photographers: enthusiasts with talent and skill looking to earn a little extra income in their spare time. Some of those photographers can produce great images (and sometimes at low cost) but not all act of images to show during the consultation, being aware of appropriate prices and what exactly those prices include, and being authoritative but polite and friendly when interacting with guests. It means attending the wedding to shoot, not eat (and certainly not drink), having the necessary insurance coverage, and knowing too that you can provide an alternative photographer if something turns up and you can't make the day.

The job of a wedding photographer isn't just to take the pictures of the occasion; it's to take away all the worry of the day's photography so that the bride and groom can focus on the vows and the joy. That kind of professionalism is invalu-

4. Perfectionism

And professionalism includes perfectionism. Between making an appointment for the consultation and delivering the final albums lies a great deal of work for a wedding photographer. Each of those stages, from preparing the portfolio to the post-production of the pictures, provides opportunities to cut corners. It's tempting, for example, to shoot first and clean up later in Photoshop, or to skip some of the editing and hope that a client can't tell the difference between a good image and a perfect one.

But clients are paying for great are only produced by photographers who pay attention to the details, learn their trade and never take the easy route when more time means better results.

Wedding photography costs clients a lot of money because it costs wedding photographers a lot of time. Successful photographers know that time is needed to get as close as possible to a perfect wedding album.

5. Peculiarities

For clients, the work of wedding photographers can all look pretty similar. There are the formals, the details, the candid shots of the bride putting on her makeup, the action scenes of the guests dancing and the shots of the confetti raining down outside the church.

Weddings all contain the same events, which can make the photos taken at them difficult to distinguish at first glance. That's one of the reasons that referrals are so important when it comes to narrowing down the choice and picking a prospect.

But it also means that a photographer who can produce a unique approach can quickly steal a march on his or her competitors and win some extra jobs.

Denis Reggie, the photographer credited with creating wedding photojournalism — a style that attempts to capture naturalistic,

- has gone on to build a career that's included shooting the nuptials of Kennedys and celebrities. It's a style that's also spawned Trash The Dress photography, a new kind of shoot that takes place after the wedding and puts the bride, with the dress, in rough locations, including lakes, the sea and deserts.

Being different is always a risk, but photographers who can pull it off will find that it can make them hard to turn down for brides looking for more than the usual wedding album.

6. Persuasion

It would be great if all of these five things together were enough to attract interest and turn leads into clients. But they're not. Wedding photographers also have to push. They have to explain what clients will get for their money, knock down objections and be ready to negotiate. That means upselling too. When most couples find that they spend more than their wedding budget, wedding photographers have an incentive and an opportunity to push the value of their most expensive packages, even to clients who have said they want to spend less. Whether they manage to make those sales will depend entirely on their power of persuasion.

Wedding photography is a challenging field. It's a field that relies on great images to achieve success, but it depends on a lot more than that. To build a successful wedding photography business requires character, recommendations, sincerity, attention to detail, creativity, and sale-skills. Pack all those qualities together, and you'll be irresistible too.

Adult school student on path of success

DOWNEY – Doreen Kalli recently earned her high school diploma at Downey School. She has worked very hard, going to the Learning Center (lab class) during both morning and evening sessions nearly every day, finishing each class in about one month.

She attended Aviation High School years ago and got into the wrong crowd, as some teens do. She was smart and received good grades up until her junior year. Then it became more important to have a good time than go to school.

Later in life she learned just how important her education would be to her future.

Kalli got married young, raised two children and made sure they received a good education. She never really had a problem getting jobs, but always knew in the back of her mind that if she had not been foolish and had completed her education she would have been able to get better paying positions with better companies. She has been working in the accounting and bookkeeping field for a living, but does not have any formal training.

Then life happened! Like many others, Kalli was laid off from her last position March 2009. It seemed like the perfect time to go back to school, get her high school diploma and go on to either get her accounting degree or receive training in a completely different field.

That's when she enrolled at Downey Adult School and over the short time she's been on campus, she has earned the CCAE Student Recognition award, her high school diploma and has been inducted into the Adult Education National Honor Society.

Kalli plans on continuing her education in either accounting or in the medical billing/coding field. She is considering Downey Adult School as her school of choice for the next career training phase on her way to Cerritos College.

She recently received the Downey Realtors Association's scholarship award that will help her achieve her next goal.

'Carousel' will tug at your heartstrings

■ 'Carousel' ranks as among DCLO's all-time bests.

By Henry Veneracion, Staff Writer

thought "South Pacific" was good and "Show Boat" a real tear-jerker, but seen through a prism of similar lost chances, "Carousel" spoke even louder and truer.

The musical, which opened at the Downey Theatre on May 28 and runs through June 13, is about a couple of ill-starred lovers, and their offspring, who suffer existential hell but end in redemption for the devil-may-care husband and hope for his wife and daughter.

This is a musical, of course, and the familiar songs, "If I Loved You," "June is Bustin' Out All Over," "A Real Clambake," "What's the Use of Wond'rin'," and "You'll Never Walk Alone," singly usually just vibrating in the memory unlocked a flood of emotions when discerned in full relief.

The songs were written by Richard Rodgers, the lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein, and despite DCLO's bare-bones (but still elegant) production, the topnotch cast and crew, along with the musical direction, manage to lift "Carousel" to the top tier of DCLO offerings over the seasons.

By the way, as executive director and emcee extraordinaire Marsha Moode pointed out, this is the first time in 27 years the musical has come to Downey.

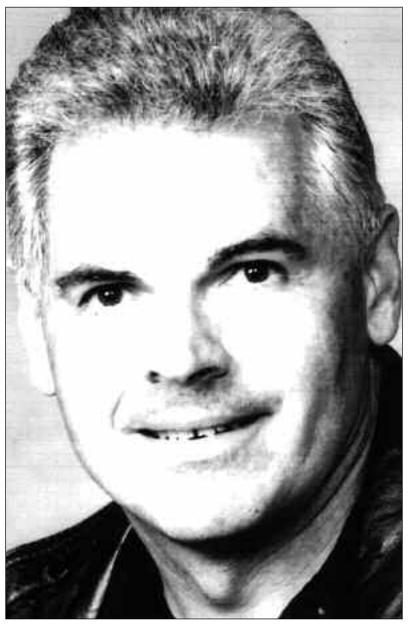

Robert Standley, who starred in his first Downey appearance as Curly in "Oklahoma," stars as Billy Bigelow, the booted-out ladykiller carnival barker whose life is a study in tragedy even after he marries a lovestruck but equally stubborn millworker, Julie Jordan, played by Jill Van Velzer. Velzer was seen here previously as Laurey in "Oklahoma" and Fiona in "Brigadoon."

Other lead characters are the starkeeper/Dr. Seldon, played by Ed Krieger, who has played many parts for DCLO productions (Lazar Wolf in "Fiddler on the Roof"; Clem Rogers in "The Will Rogers Follies"); Jigger, Billy's friend who's of questionable character, played by another frequent DCLO performer, George Champion; Carrie, a co-worker and close friend of Julie's, played by Andrea Dodson, a music degree holder and seen here previously in Downey as Phyllis Dale in "42nd Street" and Ginger in "Dames at Sea"; Mr. Snow, the local fisherman who marries Carrie and whose nose-tothe-grindstone ethos is rewarded with a measure of wealth, played by 13-time DCLO performer Kit Wilson (Nicely Nicely in "Guys and Dolls," Evert Dunlap in "The Music Man," the Padre in "Man of La Mancha"); Mrs. Mullins, the carousel owner drawn to Billy, played by Valerie Jasso, whose past DCLO credits include "Oliver," "My Fair Lady" and "Rodgers and Hart: A Celebration"; and Nettie Fowler, Julie's cousin, played by perennial DCLO presence Ann Peck McBride, familiar to Downey audiences for her lead roles in such plays as "The King & I," "The Sound of Music," "Hello, Dolly," and "Fiddler on the Roof".

"Carousel" is an adaptation of the original play, Liliom, written by the transplanted Hungarian dramatist/novelist Ferenc Molnar (1878-1952), whose works include "The Guardsman," whose plot was used for the film version of "The Chocolate Soldier" and "The Swan" (whose film version was Grace Kelly's last movie).

Time magazine is said to have named it the best musical of the Veteran actor Kit Wilson has returned to the Downey Civic Light Opera for the 13th time to star as Enoch Snow in "Carousel." The musical is in production at the Downey Theatre this weekend and next. ## 'Frankenstein' gets date change

COSTA MESA – To accommodate a change in the national tour of the new Mel Brooks musical "Young Frankenstein," the Orange County Performing Arts Center has rescheduled the show's visit to Sept. 12-25 rather than Sept. 7-19, as originally announced.

"Young Frankenstein," a new musical comedy from the creative team of the Tony Award-winning smash "The Producers," features music and lyrics by Brooks.

Based on the Oscar-nominated 1974 film, "Young Frankenstein" is the re-imagining of the Mary Shelley classic. When Frederick Frankenstein, an esteemed New York brain surgeon and professor, inherits a castle and laboratory in Transylvania from his grandfather, deranged genius Victor Von Frankenstein, he faces a dilemma.

Does he continue to run from his family's tortured past or does he stay in Transylvania to carry on his grandfather's mad experiments reanimating the dead and, in the process, falling in love with his sexy lab assistant Inga?

Unfolding in the forbidding Caste Frankenstein and the foggy moors of Transylvania Heights, the show's raucous score includes "The Transylvania Mania," "He Vas My Boyfriend" and "Puttin' On the Ritz."

"Young Frankenstein" was named Best Broadway Musical 2008 by the Outer Critics Circle Award and won five Broadway.com Audience Awards, including Favorite New Broadway Musical. The New York Post called "Young Frankenstein," "the Broadway musical at its dizziest, glitziest and funniest."

Single tickets to see "Young Frankenstein" will go on sale July 18. Tickets for groups of 15 or more are now available by calling (714) 755-0236.

Pitching only takes Downey so far

■ SOFTBALL: Vikings settle for second place in SGVL.

By Scott Cobos, Staff Writer

DOWNEY – After a tight first round win against Oak Park two weeks ago, the Downey Vikings softball team, a team with high expectations at the beginning of the season, fell in a heartbreaker 1-0 against Mission Viejo last Tuesday.

Manager Micah Karzen earlier in the season said that he thought his team could take the San Gabriel Valley League championship away from Warren and then go deep into the playoffs.

While neither happened with another bridesmaid finish in league play and another early exit in the playoffs, the Vikings did improve from last year's result in advancing to the second round this season.

Downey did have to scrap in the first round in order to even advance as their 1-0 win over Oak Park showed.

The Vikings scored early in the game, scoring a run in the bottom half of the third inning off Brittany Colenzo's only base hit of the game which plated Debra Lovell, who also only had a single in the game.

Lovell got on base then advanced to scoring position after at bats from Eileen Rico, Anissa Urtez, and Desirae Romero. The key in the inning to getting Lovell into scoring position was Romero reaching base on an error.

This set the table for Colenzo, who also picked up the win in the game, to single home Lovell for the only run scored.

Colenzo was lights out, pitching a complete game and allowing only three hits. She was very efficient with her pitches striking out only one and not allowing a walk.

Downey finishes their season 24-8 overall, and 8-2 in SGVL play, good enough for a second place finish to Warren.

The Vikings were close to untouchable at home going 6-1, but were vulnerable on the road even with their 6-4 record away from the happy confines of Downey High School.

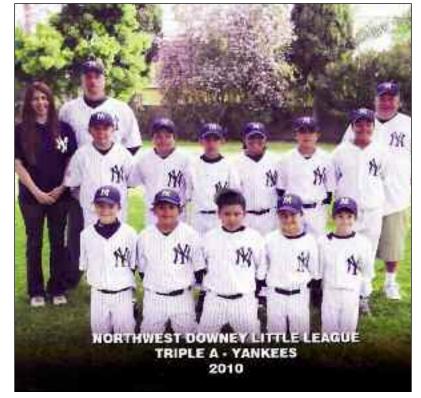

Also, the Vikings were a fantastic 12-3 at neutral sites. The great record could be attributed to their pitching staff that was one of the best in the section, allowing only 33 runs all season.

Colenzo led the 2-man pitching staff with a 0.66 ERA and an opposing batting average of .180. In 95.2 innings, Colenzo allowed only 9 earned runs and had close to a 5-to-1 strikeout to walk ratio, striking out 62 and walking only 13.

Lauren Canas was brilliant all season long as well, allowing fewer hit than Colenzon in 76.1 innings. With her 1.01 ERA, Canas allowed only 44 hits and 11 earned runs. Canas also walked only three batters in 18 appearances this season.

Just like Karzen thought, Downey's offense was also one of the best in the league with four players batting over .400 on the season.

Staci Rodriguez, Romero, Sydney Colenzo, and Katie Medina all batted over .400 on the season, and each of them played at least 28 games this season. Rico led the team in homeruns with four, and Medina, Rodriguez, Lovell, and Romero all tied for the team lead in RBIs with 23 apiece.

Record falls at prelims

DOWNEY – Warren's girls' track and field team performed beyond expectation at the San Gabriel Valley League championships.

The Bears qualified a handful of girls to CIF Division I prelims. Noteworthy performances were turned in by the 4x400 relay team who broke a school record that has stood for more than 10 years.

Lizette Manrique, Danielle Rodriguez, Madeline Gulk and Nicole Leon ran a time of 4:11.03. Gulk qualified in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 48.72 seconds. Courtney Clark qualified with a second place finish in the high jump at 4-feet-11. Carli Ciatti again is the league champion in the pole vault at 10-feet-6.

The distance team qualified four athletes. Rodriguez ran a league record time of 4:58.88 in the mile and is currently seeded No. 15 in California overall in the event and No. 2 in Division I. Close behind her was Monique Diaz at 5:09.42. In the 3200-meter, Diaz broke the league record with a time of 11:07. Melissa Quintero and Dani Moreno finished close behind in 11:15 and 11:16 respectively.

Vikings prepare for first powderpuff game

By Alyssa Wynne, Staff Writer

DOWNEY – Senior and junior girls at Downey High School are preparing for a showdown as the first annual powderpuff game inches closer and closer, while the ladies practice tediously to ensure an easy and fun game.

"People have always talked about it, but nothing has ever been done," said Associated Student Body president Liz Calvillo about finally creating the powderpuff game.

Unfortunately, the boys will not be cheering as initially expected. But they are still providing their support by coaching and training the ladies for the upcoming flag football match. The support team consists of most of the varsity and junior varsity football team and head coach Jack Williams, who not only creates practice routines, but plays and strategies for the game.

"The boys have been leading everything, they've been extremely helpful," said Calvillo. "They're real excited, maybe more than the girls."

Both classes practice twice a week, alternating on days so as not to be crowded. The girls have also received schooling in the sport to ensure they completely understand the game. With 21 girls from class of 2010, and 26 girls from class of 2011 signed up, there is sure to be a close fight, although the seniors are very confident that they will

"We have drills and plays, but everything is pretty basic," said Calvillo. "People have gotten a lot better really quick and I think the seniors have a lot of talent.

Thus far, ASB has distributed over 1,000 tickets and expect a large turn out, hopefully large enough to fill the visitor and home sections of Allen Layne Stadium.

The senior and junior classes have ordered shirts for the unforgettable match and will all be wearing the same bottoms so to look professional and sporty.

The game will be played June 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Allen Layne Stadium. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $7.

Bears stalk into finals

DOWNEY – A 5-1 victory over Chino Hills on Tuesday assured a nice easy cruise into the finals of the CIF playoffs for the Warren Bears softball team to be held this weekend in Irvine at the Deanna Manning Stadium.

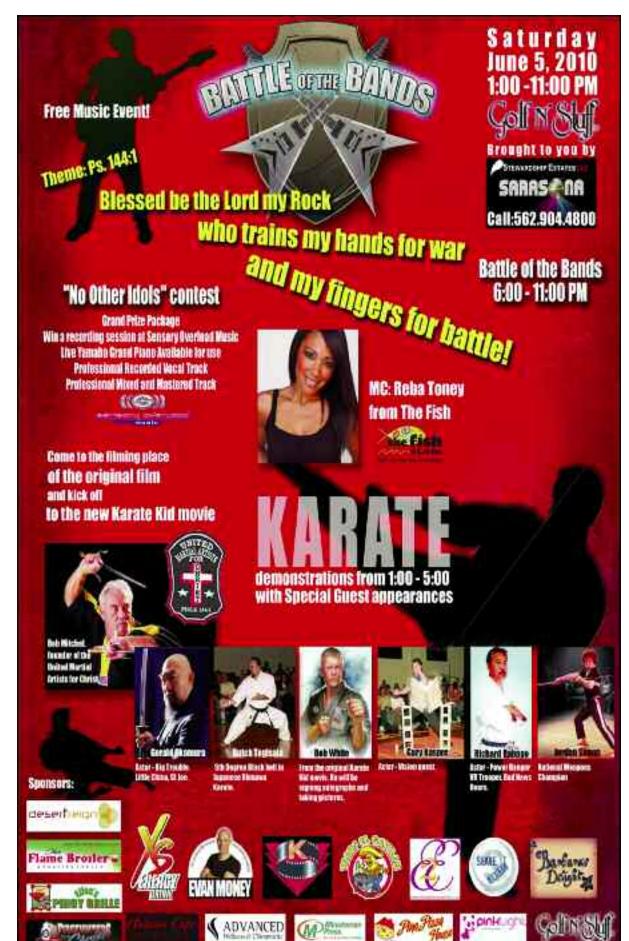

But before they got there, they edged out Glendora, winning 3-2 at home last Thursday.

In a game that the Bears probably shouldn't have won, Glendora committed four errors, and the Bears scored the winning run in the bottom half of the seventh inning.

Warren defeated Righetti at home in their first round game 4-0 and Colton 8-0 in their second round game.

The Bears will face Ayala today, the No. 2 seed out of the Sierra league and the tournaments Cinderella.

Onyewu cleared for World Cup

SOUTH AFRICA – International soccer star Oguchi "Guch" Onyewu will represent the U.S. National team at the 2010 FIFA World Cup taking place in South Africa, June 11 – July 11.

The announcement came after speculation on whether Onyewu would return to the playing field in time for the World Cup.

Onyewu suffered a ruptured patellar tendon against Costa Rica on Oct. 14, 2009 in the U.S. team's final World Cup qualifying game.

Through intensive rehabilitation, Onyewu has made a complete recovery.

"Having the opportunity to play in the World Cup for the second time is truly an honor and I am humbled," Onyewu said. "I'm recovered and ready to perform on the world stage of soccer."

Onyewu was born in the United States but is of Nigerian decent. He said the 2010 World Cup is uniquely special to him because it is the first time the World Cup will be played in Africa.

"This moment is historic and deeply meaningful to me as both an African and an American," he said.

Standing at 6 ft. 4 inches, Onyewu is respected globally as one of the most dominant defenders in the game. He currently plays for AC Milan and is only the second American to play for a Series A

His birth name, Oguchialu, means "God fight for me."

Onyewu debuted his skills for the U.S. National Team in October of 2004 against Panama. He scored his first goal for the team in the 2005 Gold Cup against Honduras and was named to the tournament's Best XI.

Onyewu played for the U.S. in all three games at the 2006 World Cup and has been a fixture ever since.

National parks: a vacation value | Can I carry a gun while fishing?

■ National parks offer a great escape from the city.

By David Lillard

just spent a few days in my favorite national Shenandoah. It was great to flee cell phones, wi-fi, and email. And even better to escape the "anger" at big government being flashed lately on TV screens and the Internet.

Enjoying Virginia's majestic Blue Ridge, it became clear that we Americans have much more to be thankful for than angry about. And though it's unpopular to say it in some circles, we taxpayers have often invested wisely. Approaching summer, at a time when every family is stretching a dollar, our national parks offer vacation values to fit every budget.

I suggest you go visit the parks. Take the kids. See. Remember. Relax!

Start with the famous parks that celebrate our natural glories like California's Yosemite, or Arizona's Grand Canyon. Or gain some national perspective by ferretingout less known destinations, like Texas's Alibates Flint Quarries where ancient peoples crafted stone tools and eked out a good living thousands of years before the first bank bailouts.

Near my West Virginia home are national parks of every flavor: the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal National Historic Park, dedicated to America's industrial spirit, and the Appalachian Trail, dedicated to wilderness adventure. Also close by, in Pennsylvania, is the Johnstown Flood National Memorial that tells a gripping story of small town heroes and robber baron villains as real as items making today's headlines. Also nearby, spend time at Gettysburg National Battlefield and recall a time when our own homeland was embroiled in civil strife just as agonizing as that in Iraq or Afghanistan today.

Not interested in history's lessons? Then head to the seashore, where for the cost of a movie, you can camp out, watch the sun come up over the beach – then go right back to sleep. Delight the kids with the wild ponies at Maryland's Assateague Island National Seashore, or glimpse migrating peregrine falcons at Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge. On the West Coast, sample Oregon's Lewis and Clark National Historic Park, actually 12 parks stretched like gems along the Pacific Ocean and Columbia River. Or travel to Florida's Everglades. There consider current events in the Gulf, and realize that we must often fight to preserve our natural heritage just as vigorously as we fight to preserve our other freedoms.

If you're visiting Washington, D.C. this summer - whether to celebrate the nation's history or to protest it - don't miss the Capital Area national parks. One crowd pleaser is the Old Post Office Tower, soaring to 315 feet, and from which you can view the entire city. Another favorite is the Jefferson Memorial, monument to the American patron saint of taxpayer irony. Jefferson preached small government then spent lavishly from the national treasury on the Louisiana Purchase. Long before the subprime mortgage crisis, Jefferson died drowning in personal debt after borrowing heavily to finance his home at Monticello. Do we hold this against him? No. Nor should we. His monument celebrates his contributions while acknowledging his humanity.

Within a day's drive of Washington is Great Smoky Mountains National Park where the fishing is superb, hikes lead to breathtaking views, and the kids can go horseback riding. Visit this June for the wondrous firefly display, where millions of insects blink off-and-on in perfect synchronous rhythm, like something out of Close Encounters - a mystery to scientists and humbling reminder of how little we truly

This list is just a start. To find out what's close to you, go to the National Park Service website (www.nps.gov/findapark/index.ht m) and click on your home state. Many destinations, like the National Trails system, can be visited without a fee. Buy a National Park annual pass for the price of dinner out at a restaurant, and visit every park for free.

So wake up, stop worrying, and start packing. Get away from all the noise for a day or week, and gain some perspective on your country. Sure, our government overspends from time to time, but some things are worth what we pay for them. If you're an angry American, remember that spendhappy politicians are responding to voters, and that some of what they throw money at are the things we demanded of them. As for me, I'm willing to pay more for parks and open space, and not willing to give them up.

And if you want to be part of a "tea party" this summer, do it with your kids at a national park. Visit the site of the real tea party at the Boston National Historical Park. Go. Get out of the car, walk, and enjoy the view. It's yours.

Q: I was out fishing at Pine Flat Reservoir this past weekend and I came across an angler. He had a handgun on his side. I thought he was a warden, but he was fishing about 20 yards from me. He was dressed in civilian clothes.When I got home I told my cousin about it and he told me that he heard there's a clause in the Department of Fish and Game (DFG) policy that makes it okay for anglers to carry a gun (pistol) while out fishing, as long as the pistol is not loaded and as long as the angler possess a California fishing license. Is this

A: There is a California Penal Code law that allows anglers to carry a gun while fishing and while hiking to and from their angling site. California Penal Code, section 12025 prohibits carrying concealed firearms in California, however, section 12027 provides the following exemption to this prohibition: "Licensed hunters or fishermen carrying pistols, revolvers or other firearms capable of being concealed upon the person while engaged in hunting or fishing, or transporting those firearms unloaded when going to or returning from the hunting or fishing expedition."

Remember that some areas that allow fishing, such as state and national parks, and some incorporated areas where fishing is allowed prohibit the possession of any firearm. Make sure to check on the local laws where you plan to fish. The California Bureau of Firearms in the Department of Justice posts a summary of California firearm laws online at http://ag.ca.gov/firearms/.

Q: If I catch my limit of the fish I'm fishing for, can I continue fishing catch-and-release? If my buddy doesn't have his limit, can I fish for him? If I don't want to keep the fish, can I fish for other people?

A: When fishing in freshwater, each person is allowed to take only one daily bag limit per day. Once you catch your daily limit for a species of fish, you are done fishing for that type of fish.

If you want to catch and release fish, you must do that before you take the last fish of the limit. If you want to give someone your fish, you may do so but those fish will still count toward your daily bag limit, and the person receiving the fish cannot have more than the legal limit in their possession either.

In addition, if you take an overlimit (for example, seven trout when the limit is five), and you give two to someone else, that person is now in possession of illegally taken fish and could be cited, too, even if they are not over their daily bag limit.

When fishing in the ocean, however, boat limits are allowed for anglers fishing from a boat. This means that all anglers can continue fishing until the total numbers of fish on the boat are equal to the total number of fish allowed for every angler, despite who actually caught each fish. Upon departing the boat, each passenger can only possess one daily

Q: If I have been convicted of a felony, can I still apply for a hunting license? My felony was considered white collar and was non-violent with no weapons involved.

A: Yes, but you must first complete a hunter safety course. Once you have a felony, regardless of the type of crime, you cannot own or possess a firearm. You can obtain a hunting license but will be restricted to shooting archery or crossbow, or air rifles or pistols only.

Q: I know its illegal to shoot from your car, but is it legal to park and shoot from the roof of your car for varmints?

A: Shooting from the roof of your car is only allowed if on private property where public access is prohibited. However, you may not take any bird or mammal from a motor vehicle (CCR Title 14, sec-

Remember, the definition of take includes any attempt to take, such as shooting at the bird or mammal. Therefore, the only shooting allowed would be target shooting. Otherwise, a loaded gun is not allowed in or on a vehicle driving or parked on or along a road or other way open to the public (FGC, section 2006).

Q: I am a Sacred Arts Practitioner and am seeking to find elk, trout and salmon wild-caught with prayer/sacred intention, for eating and ceremonial purposes. I am aware that it is illegal to purchase or sell game, so how would I legally go about obtaining such meat? Do I have to hunt it myself, or are there other valid ways of doing this, such as purchasing from licensed sellers?

A: Wild-caught (taken) elk, trout and salmon can be utilized for these purposes, if acquired legally.

According to DFG Ret. Capt. Phil Nelms, you are correct that neither elk nor trout (wild-caught) can be purchased, but you can purchase salmon under the regulations for commercial fishing.

You can take these species yourself under normal seasons and license requirements (see Fish and Game Code, section 7151 for Free Fishing Licenses), take the fish without a license on the two designated free fishing days (July 1 and Sept. 6 this year), or you can receive them as a gift from anyone who took them legally.

Myths about shelter dogs dispelled

piane Pomerance knows what people say about adopting pets from animal shelters and rescue organizations, and since National Pet Week was recently celebrating during the first week of May, she'd like to dispel the myths.

"They think, 'I don't want to inherit someone else's problem,' or they simply think all the dogs there are abused or hard to train, or that they won't be able to find the breed that they want," said Pomerance, author of seven books about pets, including "Our Rescue Dog Family Album". Her family has saved and adopted more than 40 rescued dogs over the years and currently have 21 in their home.

In addition, she has helped place hundreds more with good homes.

"All of those notions couldn't be further from the truth, and in fact, buying from the pet shop can be more hazardous than adopting one from a shelter," Pomerance said.

Pomerance does not work for an animal shelter or animal welfare organization. She is simply an individual who has devoted much of her personal life to rescuing these dogs because she feels strongly about the value of these animals and the many gifts they can offer people.

She also believes that people view animal shelters in a poor light because of their adherence to many popular — but erroneous — myths about shelter dogs:

Most shelter dogs are sick or aggressive from abuse — Rescued dogs receive better care and feeding than pet shop dogs, and they are treated by veterinarians before they are offered for adoption. In addition, they are far more affordable to adopt and care for, since many shelters and rescue groups offer free adoptions, and excellent veterinary services at significantly reduced rates. Also, most shelters don't allow dangerous animals to be adopted.

Pet shop dogs are better quality animals — Pet shops typically get their dogs from puppy mills that breed them in unsanitary and inhumane conditions, which means many new owners bring home pets with illnesses not immediately obvious or disclosed at the time of sale, and they are offered no compensation for it. So, buying at a pet shop means paying top dollar, sometimes over $1,000 for a dog, and then paying top dollar for private veterinary care to treat any initial illnesses many pet shop dogs contract.

Most of the dogs who are euthanized wouldn't make good pets, anyway — Rescuing a dog helps deplete the high population of animals in these shelters and reduces the number of good, faithful, loving animals that are euthanized every year. It's not just the sick or dangerous dogs who are euthanized at shelters. In most cases, many dogs who would make good pets are euthanized because of overcrowding in the shelter

"Animals are deserving of our respect and appreciation, which is why we should try to be responsive individually to the crisis facing animal shelters today," Pomerance added. "They perform many important tasks for us - in the military, as bomb and weapons detectors, as service animals, as healing companions and friends of the lonely and bereaved and even as search and rescue assistants in natural as well as man-made disasters. They heal and even save human lives. It is scientifically substantiated that animal companions increase our longevity and improve the quality of our lives.

"We should also realize that getting a family pet should not be a decision or choice that is taken lightly. You're not buying a car or getting a new electronic toy to play with — these are living, breathing, loving creatures with whom we share our world. If we choose to share our family with one, we should take care to ensure we choose carefully and prudently so we can enhance not only our family's life, but the dog's, as well."

Diane Pomerance has a Ph.D. in Communications from the University of Michigan. She has written seven books about animals, and created and currently directs the Pet Grief Counseling Program for the SPCA of Dallas, Tex.

Students from Downey Adult School's Dental Assisting and Pharmacy Technician programs graduated

Adult school students graduate

DOWNEY – Downey Adult School's Dental Assisting and Pharmacy Technician programs held graduation ceremonies May 25 in the Harriett Paine Event Center located on campus.

Hermie Nadal was named valedictorian, while Sanaa Estefan and Eduardo Ducreaux shared the salutatorian title for the Pharmacy Technician program.

For the afternoon program, Ariane Marie Ganancial headed the class as valedictorian while Elaine Umali Galisanao and Gabriela Marin were salutatorians.

"This has been one of the best graduations we have had," Assistant Principal Blanca Rochin said.

A message from THE DOWNEY ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® (DAOR) 2010 President, Sossi Gabriel

Facing the possibility of foreclosure, California homeowners may be hit with more than just losing their homes. Due to a loophole in state law, they also can be sued by their lender. For people who have refinanced a property, even if the money is used for home improvements, there is no protection should the borrower default on a mortgage that's greater than the property's value. Called a "deficiency" liability, under current California law, the lender can sue the former homeowner for the amount of the deficiency even after taking back the property.

THE DOWNEY ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® is alerting consumers and has sponsored legislation — Senate Bill 1178 by State Sen. Ellen Corbett (D-San Leandro) — to close this loophole.

"Most homeowners have no idea they are personally liable," said DAOR President Sossi Gabriel, "Forcelosure is difficult enough on a family. Getting sued for tens of thousands of dollars after losing your home is much worse.

"During times when Californians are struggling to protect their homes, state government should enact reasonable protections to help people get through what is a very difficult situation," she said. "Senate Bill 1178 strengthens the lending process and protects Californians. Borrowers will be protected from fundamentally unfair lending practices and lenders will be accountable for the quality of loans they refinance."

California has protected borrowers from so-called "deficiency" liability on their home mortgages since the 1930s, but the evolution of mortgage finance requires that the statute be updated. Essentially, it says that if a homeowner defaults on a mortgage used to purchase his or her home, the homeowner's liability on the mortgage is limited to the property itself. The law has worked well since the 1930s to protect borrowers, ensure the quality of loan underwriting, and allow borrowers brought down by financial crisis to get back on their feet.

Unfortunately, the original law does not extend the protection to loans that refinance the original purchase debt, even if the refinance only was to gain a lower interest rate. Recent years of low interest rates and aggressive marketing campaigns by lenders have induced tens of thousands to refinance mortgages. Few homeowners realized that by refinancing their mortgage, they were forfeiting their protections and now are personally liable.

"Lenders have a responsibility to ensure that borrowers understand loan terms and can meet them," Gabriel said.
"SB 1178 puts in place much-needed consumer protections and deserves swift passage by the California legislature next week."

DAOR is a charter Association under the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® and the CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®. The 2010 DAOR President is Sossi Gabriel. Sossi Gabriel, Broker / Owner of Nova Realty in Downey can be reached at 562-743-2429.

Don't give up on your mortgage

BY THE NORTH AMERICAN PRECIS SYNDICATE

There are better alternatives than defaulting on a mortgage obligation.

The decision to default may seem like the only alternative for many homeowners who have lost their jobs or are experiencing personal problems such as illness or divorce, but homeowners should carefully consider how such a decision might affect them in the long •Negative credit rating. Defaulting on your mortgage can affect future access to credit and negatively impact your ability to rent or buy a home. It can also make it harder and more expensive to buy or lease a car and maintain a small-business line of credit, and could cause your creditors to reduce your existing credit lines. Now that some employers use credit checks in making employment decisions, it could even hurt opportunities for future employment (60 percent of employers now check credit records, up from 40 percent four years ago, according to the Society for Human Resource Management).

•Debt doesn't always go away. By simply walking away from your obligation, you might end up with a large tax bill. However, by working with your lender, any debt forgiveness on your primary residence may not be taxable due to the passed Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act. You should consult your tax professional for background on this tax provision and to understand the potential impact to your individual

In some states, even after foreclosure, lenders can seek repayment from you for the mortgage if you have the ability to pay the remainder. If you have a second mortgage, often called a "piggyback," in those states where deficiencies may be pursued, the bank may also seek payment on the second loan balance. If you owe back taxes, your municipality may turn your delinquent taxes over to collection agencies for repayment.
